These emergencies could affect you in the city

Heatwaves

Extended heatwaves are becoming more common. Extreme heat can have serious impacts on your health.

Storms and flooding

Storms and flooding can damage homes, block roads and cause power outages.

Bushfires

Bushfires can put your home and health at risk, especially during the summer. Bushfires also cause poor air quality due to smoke pollution.

High-rise building fires

Many people in the city live in high-rise buildings and may be vulnerable to fires.

Electricity outages

Electricity power outages can be caused by heatwaves, bushfires or storms. Outages can occur for multiple days.
